

#Brand Communication

Brand communication is a combination of activities such as advertising, social media and reviews that are used to communicate with customers. Brand communication takes place every time a potential customer or client interacts with a particular brand. This is how the company communicates

