

#Color

The process of transferring color information of the product, such as hex codes, to the design process.

