#Transportation Data

Data on how many products were delivered to users and when. This data can be used to inform users how long it will take for products to arrive. This could be in partnership with companies/stakeholders involved in logistics/order fulfilment.